

BANK PETITIONS FOR INJUNCTION

Prays Judge Waddill to Stop Proceedings of Parker & Thomas, Architects,

ARE ANXIOUS FOR BIG CITY

The Two Hundred Thousand League Revives the Consolidation Movement Again.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., January 22.—Judge Waddill, in the United States District Court, to-day heard argument on a motion for an injunction stopping proceedings in the common law case of Parker & Thomas, architects, of Baltimore, against the National Bank of Commerce, of Norfolk. The architects seek to recover the sum of $5,000 for professional service alleged to be due in connection with the construction of the bank building. The bank claims that the architects are responsible for damages in a certain suit which it has instituted against Stewart & Co., contractors for the construction of the building, who worked under the direction of the architects. It is also stated by the bank that its differences with the contractors are now in the process of adjustment by arbitration, and that their joint relations with Parker & Thomas cannot be established until the matter with the contractors has been adjusted. Therefore, they ask the injunction. The case of Parker & Thomas against the bank was docketed for trial to-day.

Consolidation Again.

The discussion of the proposition to consolidate Norfolk and Portsmouth has come to the front afresh, and those interested in the movement on this side of the river, principally members of the 200,000 League, are pushing it with vigor. Consolidationists of Portsmouth and suburbs are consulting with them. No little is heard about it, for the 200,000 leaguers are active citizens.

The league has decided to appoint a committee of ten to present the matter before the various legislative bodies and business organizations and individuals of the two cities. This will be a kind of steering committee. It will endeavor also to influence others to help push the movement along.

Buyers Wharf.

The wharf property on the Eastern Branch of the Elizabeth River, long occupied by the Clyde Steamship Company, under a lease, has been purchased by the steamship company from the Glard Trust Company, of Philadelphia, trustee of the estate of the late Benjamin Franklin Clyde, the price being $150,000. The Clyde Steamship Company has sold a portion of it to George W. Duval and James A. Ridgeway for $50,000. Benjamin F. Clyde was the sole owner of the property.

Lumbermen Meet.

Members of the National Export Lumber Association will hold their annual convention here to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock in the governor's room at the Virginia Club. It is probable that the meeting will take up the entire day and a portion of the night.

At the same time there is a great deal of business connected with the association to be transacted. Not only must the officers for the ensuing year be elected, but the multifarious affairs connected with lumber, export charges, railroad rates, etc., will be discussed.

Thursday, when the business session has been completed, the visiting members will be given an oyster roast at Cape Henry, commencing at noon. They will make their headquarters at the Hotel Lorraine, and most of them are due here to-night.

In all, about twenty-five members are expected to attend. There are not more than fifty in the entire association. In their hands, however, lies the management of one of the most important industries of the United States.

The midwinter shipments of truck from this trucking section, are heavier this season than usual. Every outgoing steamship has a hold well filled with the winter crops of the farmers who feed New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston with "greenstuff" of one kind or the other, the year round.

Nearly 3,000 barrels of kale and spinach a day are being shipped by the Western Branch trucks. This is not a very unusual quantity. The farmers have learned to distribute the harvest of this crop over the winter months, so that it all reaches the market in prime condition, and the supply is rarely in excess of the demand. This, of course, makes for the best prices obtainable.

MURDER FOR 7 CENTS

Quarrel Arises Over Crap Game, With Trifling Amount at Stake.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., January 22.—Buck Robinson, colored, was killed by Jean Peachtree, also colored, in a dispute over seven cents in a crap game in Dennis Brooks' saloon, Portsmouth, about 1 o'clock this morning. Robinson, it was testified at the inquest, advanced on Peachtree with a knife. Peachtree pulled a revolver and fired twice, one of the bullets striking Robinson under the right eye, penetrating the brain, and causing instant death.

Peachtree took flight after the shooting and has not been captured.

ALERT AMELIA MAN AVERTS TRAIN WRECK

Found Broken Rail and Stopped Train Just in Time—Mend Track Sunday.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
AMELIA, C. H., VA., January 22.—On Sunday, at 2 P. M., while Mr. Ollie S. Allen was walking on the Southern Railroad track, three miles south of Amelia, he discovered a broken rail in the track. His attention was directed to it by a short piece of the rail at the point where two rails join being out of position. On closer examination Mr. Allen found the piece, about six inches long, broken loose, and that he could remove it from the track, which he did. Looking at his watch, he realized that it was nearly time for the northbound train from Charlotte, N. C., the southbound train having passed over this track about an hour before. Mr. Allen at once determined to wait and stop this train, if possible, as there was not time for him to reach either Amelia or Jetersville before the northbound train was due. In about thirty minutes the train came thundering on at full speed. Mr. Allen waved his handkerchief. The engineer gave one short toot of the whistle, but Mr. Allen waved again, and, stooping, picked up the short piece of rail from the track. The engineer saw this movement, and recognizing danger, brought the train to a stop. In a few moments the engineer, fireman, conductor and many passengers were on the spot, and realized what a narrow escape they had made.

The piece of rail was replaced. Mr. Allen was greeted and thanked by all, and taken aboard the train, which passed safely over the gap in the track, and brought to Amelia. Telegraphic communication with the Richmond office soon brought orders for Captain W. T. King, the sectionmaster of this division, to go to the place of the accident, known as Jordan's Cut, and repair the damage. Not being able to collect the railroad hands on Sunday evening, Captain King got up a crew of citizens. Mr. Allen among them. Needing a rail, they took one from the switch track at this place, and soon the noises were pumping the hands back to the place to repair the damage. Being unused to the work, they had to stop and rest, but after a while reached the place and took out the broken rail and inserted the rail taken from the switch track.

Captain King had asked that all trains be stopped at the courthouse and at Jetersville till he reported safe, which was done. Coming back, he secured an old rail and replaced the one taken from the switch track. Mr. Allen says the rails from which they took up the broken rail and put down the other rail were very unsound, and the spikes could not get a safe hold.

Mr. W. J. Townes, a resident here, says he knows the rails under the track beyond Jetersville are in very bad condition.

The recordation of deeds at the Amelia clerk's office is remarkable. In 1906 there were 708 deeds recorded, and up to the 15th of January, 1907, thirty-three deeds had been recorded for the new year.

There are twelve felony cases to be tried at next court, and among them three murder cases and one for housebreaking. Court convenes on Thursday, January 24th. Judge Walter A. Watson will preside.

Morrisville Moving Ahead.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MORRISVILLE, VA., January 22.—Messrs. E. A. Mayor, of Scranton, Pa., and T. S. Jones, of this place, have formed a partnership to build a kiln and reopen the old lime quarry near Mt. Holly. A contract has been drawn up and signed by the owners of the land, Messrs. Shakespeare Holmes and Luther Claxton, who will receive a royalty on all lime sold. As there is a steadily increasing demand for lime for agricultural purposes in this section, and the limestone is easy to quarry out with an abundance of pine wood close at hand, the new industry ought to flourish.

Mr. S. H. Edwards proposes to erect a large pavilion for the benefit of boarders near the six mineral springs recently discovered on his property. One of the springs is being used by sufferers from neuralgia, with especially beneficial results.

With a hustler like "Sam" Edwards to exploit their merits, Berry Hill may soon expect a formidable rival in the Morrisville mineral springs. The water from one spring tastes exactly like the Berry Hill.

Emory and Henry Attendance.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
EMORY, VA., January 22.—The attendance of students at Emory and Henry College has now reached 191. The total registration for the preceding year (1905-1906) was 149. For the last seven years the increase was gradual, but this year it is unparalleled.

VISITORS CROWD COCKADE CITY

Hotels Unable to Provide Accommodations and New House Will Soon Be Opened.

NEW CHANNEL PROGRESSING

Much of the Big Ditch for the Diversion of Appomattox Has Been Dug.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, VA., January 22.—The demand for hotel accommodation in this city has become so much greater than the supply that the Chesterfield, at present the largest house in the city, has been compelled to turn away patrons every night for several weeks, but extensive preparations are being made to remedy prevailing conditions and to meet the big demand expected during the Jamestown Exposition. Work on the remodeling and refitting of the old Imperial Hotel, on Bollingbrook Street, is rapidly progressing, and the management expects to open the house not later than the first of May—probably sooner. It will be the largest hotel in Petersburg, and will be called "The Stratford." It is understood that the Prospect Hotel, which is located near the Stratford, may also be reopened in the near future.

Cutting New Channel.

The new channel for the diversion of the Appomattox River has been cut for over a mile, and work is at present being rapidly pushed on the masonry for the bridge in Pocahontas, where the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad crosses the big ditch. The southern abutment and southern pier for the bridge are nearing completion. About $75,000 of the $200,000 appropriation has been expended. The weekly drill of the Petersburg Grays in the armory last night, William L. Zimmerman, Jr., accepted the office of second lieutenant in an appropriate speech, thanking the company for the honor conferred upon him. This company, which was reorganized comparatively recently, bears a historic name of honor to the Cockade City, has a fine staff of experienced officers, enforces a high standard for its recruits, and is expected to attain high rank among the best military organizations of the State. It is commanded by Captain Benjamin Harrison, a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The first lieutenant, Freeman W. Jones, was an officer in the A. P. Hill Rifles, of this city, which went to the Spanish-American War. Lieutenant Zimmerman is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute.

Stewart—McCann.

Miss Etta McCann and Mr. C. H. Stewart were married this evening at the bride's residence, in Bedford, Rev. J. Sidney Peters, pastor of High Street Methodist Church, performing the ceremony. Miss Etta McCann and Miss Margaret McEwen were bridesmaids. The groomsmen were Mr. James B. Stewart and Mr. John J. Jordan. Little Miss Caroline Underwood was flower girl.

FLAMES DESTROY MECKLENBURG STABLES

All Horses, Dogs and Vehicles Are Saved—Building Fully Insured.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MECKLENBURG HOTEL, CHASE CITY, VA., January 22.—The livery and sales stables here were totally destroyed by fire this evening at 5 o'clock. While there was a considerable loss of feed, harness and small things, all the horses, dogs and vehicles were saved by the prompt and intelligent aid of the Chase city citizens and the Mecklenburg employees. The fire originated in the loft of the barn, cause unknown. The insurance will probably cover the loss. The buildings burnt very rapidly, the whole fire lasting less than an hour. There was absolutely no excitement and no accident of any kind attendant upon the fire. The building will be replaced immediately.

HONOR GREAT MAN.

Hanover Schoolchildren Have Enjoyable Exercises.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

HANOVER, VA., January 22.—White School No. 12, Ashland District, Hanover county, celebrated with much zest the one-hundredth anniversary of the birth of General R. E. Lee. An appropriate hymn was sung by the pupils. The "Conquered Banner," by Father Ryan, was impressively recited by Misses Bettie and Bernice Toler Gilie and Elise Amos, Ollie and Lois Childress and Seymour Amos. The reply to "Conquered Banner," by J. J. Simon, was well recited by Russell Amos. "The Sword of Lee" was recited by Misses Bettie Toler, Julia Bowles, Carrie and Ruth Nicholas, Pauline Amos and Clifton Perkins. "Lee's Surrender" was recited by three bright little girls—Alice Perkins, Lotie and Virginia Toler, and afterwards sung very sweetly by Gilie and Elise Amos, Ollie and Lois Childress and Bernice Toler.

Messrs. Roy Bowles, Ewell Amos, Linwood and Hunter Bowles, Waverly Goodo and Ernest Childress made speeches and read essays expressive of General Lee's greatness and goodness. Little Cosy Amos mounted the rostrum and sweetly exclaimed: "There hardly shines a hero's name as spotless as the name of Lee." In compliance with the request of the patrons, the teacher read "A Proclamation on the One-Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of General R. E. Lee," by the Governor of Virginia.

Pictures of General Lee adorned the walls of the schoolhouse, and were artistically decorated with flags, flowers and evergreens. The pupils, having acquitted themselves most creditably, partook of confectionaries.

ACQUIT PHYSICIANS.

Drs. Pearson and Delaney Successfully Defend Suit.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BRISTOL, VA., January 22.—A trial in which sensational evidence was adduced was concluded here to-day, when a jury, acquitting both Dr. Pearson and James A. Delaney, prominent members of the Bristol Medical Society, of a charge of malpractice. The action was brought by J. M. Bevis and wife, of Johnson City, Tenn., who sought damages of $10,000, alleging irreparable injury to Mrs. Bevis's health.

INSTITUTE ALWAYS MOVING FORWARD
New Residence in Faculty Row to Be Built—Hospital to Be Better Equipped.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BLACKSBURG, VA., January 22.—The board of visitors at their meeting here last Thursday took action on several matters that are of interest to the friends of the school as well as the people of the State. It was decided on recommendation of the president, Dr. McBryde, to tear down the brick building recently used as an agricultural hall, better known to former students as the home of Professor Campbell, rebuilding same as a residence for some member of the faculty, its location to be on the south end of the present Faculty Row, and to remove the building now used as a veterinary hospital to a pole near the new Agricultural Hall. The new structure will still be used as a veterinary hospital, but will be much larger and more modern in its equipment.

The first number of the V. P. I. Agricultural Journal, published by the Agricultural Club of the Institute, has made its appearance and is a most creditable publication. The Journal is issued bi-monthly by the students of the agricultural department, and the contributors will be in most part from these men. The first number contains well-written articles on the different phases of farm life. The writers give their views as obtained in practical class work, with a tribute to the former professor of agriculture, Professor D. O. Nourse, written by one of his former pupils, Dr. Meade Ferguson.

The magazine consists of some twenty-five pages of reading matter, the last three devoted to alumni notes of former members of the class. Professor and Mrs. A. M. Soule were hosts at an informal reception on Friday evening, the guests being a number of the students in Professor Soule's department and young ladies of the town and campus. In a novel guessing contest Miss Edna Bannister and Mr. A. P. Winston were given prizes for skill in naming certain popular commodities from the advertisements submitted for their inspection. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and fruit were served during the evening. Besides the young men from the institute, the guests included Misses Margaret Spencer, Dinahville, Reese, Lida Pain, Bannister and Margaret Pain.

DISMISS PROCEEDINGS.

Technical Defect Causing Delay in Suit.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

HANOVER, C. H., VA., January 22.—The case of the Hanover County Circuit Court commenced yesterday, Judge John E. Mason presiding. The condemnation proceedings instituted by the Ashland Gas and Sewer Company against Whightman, and the same against the heirs of Whightman, were dismissed. The dismissal was owing to a technical defect in the proceedings. Mr. Hill Carter represented Whightman and Quarles, and Mr. Isaac Diggs represented the Sewer Company. This case, it is understood, will probably come up again at no distant date.

Jack Winston, colored, under bond of $5, on appeal from Magistrate's Court to the January term, failed to appear, and a capias was issued for his arrest in the event that he failed to renew his bond for the next term of court. The rest of the day was taken up principally in entering chancery decrees. Court adjourned in the afternoon. Judge Mason returned to his home, Fredericksburg, Va.

POWELL BROOKES NO LONGER IN CUSTODY

Judge Atkinson Ordered His Release When No True Bill Was Found.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WINCHESTER, VA., January 22.—A. Powell Brookes, of Alexandria, has been discharged from the custody of the Corporation Court of Winchester, and the case against him, which has attracted so much attention, nears its close. Failure of the grand jury yesterday to return a true bill against him resulted in Judge Atkinson's order of his release from custody. The failure of Mrs. Alexander M. Baker to appear against Brookes has resulted in the execution of a writ against Mrs. Baker, who was ordered to return to be fined $100 for contempt of court and the Commonwealth's Attorney will also seek to have the costs of the case assessed against her. Monday, February 4th, is the date set for the return of the writ, and this case, with its sensational developments, will continue to furnish the gossip in high circles with a few more morsels.

FARMERS GATHER IN WILLIAMSBURG

Institute of Two Days' Duration Begins in the Ancient Capital To-Day.

SOME WELL-KNOWN SPEAKERS

Farmers from the Neighboring Counties Will Hear State's Test Experts.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WILLIAMSBURG, VA., January 22.—A large attendance is expected here at the Farmers' Institute to-morrow and Thursday. Everything has been done to make the meeting a success. A splendid program, not too long to make it tiresome, and varied enough to make it most interesting and profitable, not only to farmers, but to business men as well, has been arranged. The meetings of the farmers here are nearly always well attended by James City and York county farmers, and the amount of good derived from them cannot be overestimated. Some of the best agriculturists in the State will be on hand both days to address the people. To-morrow morning Professor A. M. Soule, dean and director of the Blacksburg Experiment Station, will lecture on "Soil Improvement" from 10 o'clock to 11:30. He will be followed by Mr. William Milley, of Henrico county, with an address on "Dairying." In the afternoon Professor John W. Ritchie, of William and Mary College, will lecture from 1:30 to 2:30, on "Insect Pests and Life History." Professor Frank E. Emery will then discuss at some length agricultural matters in general. The engineer in charge of the Jamestown Road will close the exercises of the day with a talk of good road building. Thursday, beginning at 10 o'clock, the morning will be consumed by Professor B. J. Davidson, in an address on "Economic Use of Fertilizers." Mr. J. L. Yaman Bacoek will lecture in the afternoon from 1:30 to 3 o'clock on "Trucking and Market Gardening." Professor A. M. Soule will then close the meeting with an address on "Forage Crops for Eastern Virginia."

RE-ELECT OFFICERS OF EXPOSITION

Board of Directors of Jamestown Company Put Same Men at the Helm.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., January 22.—At a meeting this evening of the board of directors of the Jamestown Exposition Company all of the present officers were re-elected, as follows: Harry St. George Tucker, president; Alvah H. Martin, of Norfolk, first vice-president; S. Gordon Cumming, of Hampton, second vice-president; W. E. Barrett, of Newport News, third vice-president; Joseph Bryan, of Richmond, fourth vice-president; C. S. Sherwood, of Portsmouth, fifth vice-president; T. S. Garnett, of Norfolk, sixth vice-president; G. T. Shepherd, secretary; Nathaniel Beaman, treasurer; Barton Myers, auditor; Dr. R. L. Payne, medical director. These officers will serve for one year or until after the exposition gates shall have been closed. No other business was transacted by the directors.

FIRST HURDLE RACE.

Herbert Harrison Wins, With Courtney Jones Close Second.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., January 22.—A big crowd saw the first hurdle race on skates ever attempted here at the Washington Street rink to-night. Herbert Harrison won, with Courtney Jones a close second. Spinning and Gilliam were the other contestants. Falls were frequent, but no injuries resulted.

EIGHT CITIES OF GEORGIA WILL FURNISH BULLOCH HALL

NORFOLK, VA., January 22.—The eight leading cities of Georgia will each furnish a room in Bulloch Hall, a reproduction of the home of President Roosevelt's mother, which will be the Georgia State building at the Jamestown Exposition. Atlanta is expected to make an appropriation of something like $5,000 to equip her room in Bulloch Hall, and each of the other cities to participate will expend from $500 to $2,500 in equipping their rooms. These other cities will be Savannah, Augusta, Columbus, Macon, Valdosta, Albany and Cordele.

BOY DRINKS POISON; DIES IN GREAT AGONS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BRISTOL, VA., January 22.—Howard Childress, a seven-year-old colored boy, died in agony here this afternoon as the result of drinking poison from a bottle which he found on High Street.

MIDSHIPMAN HAYNE DEAD ON THE CHARLESTON

WASHINGTON, January 22.—The Navy Department was advised to-day of the death on Sunday, January 20th, on board the United States ship Charleston, at Magdalena Bay, Cal., of Midshipman Isaac W. Hayne. Midshipman Hayne was appointed to the Naval Academy from the Fourth South Carolina District on June 8, 1901, and was detached from the academy on January 30, 1905, and assigned to the Kearsarge. He later served on the Lancaster and the Franklin, and from the latter ship was assigned to the Charleston.
